

“Lines of Joy” 2nd Place

Reflection:

“Wrinkles should merely indicate where the smiles have been.” from Following Equator by Mark Twain

This photograph of my Mother and my Grandmother was taken in my Grandmother’s kitchen shortly before she moved to an assisted living facility. I am submitting tribute to the strength, beauty, and independence of these two amazing women have taught me the value of two of the most important things in life, happiness, and spending time with the ones we love. I am forever changed.
